Everybody knows you don't marry the rebound guy.

And yet, that's exactly what Charlie does. But once the husband is out of picture — kinda — she's ready to leap forward with her life. She returns to the neighborhood she left, the business she missed, and into arm's reach of Nixon — the reason she needed a rebound guy in the first place.

Other than rebuilding her life, Charlie has one main goal now that she's back in the place she considers home: Stay as far away from Nixon as she can. But their long history, his magnetic charm, and a certain sense of unfinished business makes that much, much harder than Charlie thought.

Nixon is willing to own up to his part in their break up, but for Charlie, finding a place of forgiveness is going to take much more than that. She's willing to take a chance on friendship — something they've had since they were kids — but falling in love again? That's a whole different story.

Remarkable Love Story! Another Winner

By Amazon Customer CJackson, Virginia Beach

Have you ever read a book by an author that you enjoyed reading just because the authors other books were simply amazing? Well guess what fellow readers- Book number 10 is stupendous. With each book Mrs. Jones beautiful writing gives us a reason to love romance novels. This time we visit our favorite little town in Somewhere, USA, and we get to experience Falling In love Again with Charlene and Nixon. Charlie is back in town because her husband was recently sent to prison for securities fraud. So Charlie had to escape California and the shame of it all, and guess whose waiting to see her, Yes- you guessed correctly if you said Nixon. Nixon and Charlie had a long term relationship before they threw it away- Then Charlie left, got married, and tried to fall in love with another guy.. Well guess what.. it did not happen as she planned, so she was back home. Nixon was happy to pick up the pieces again. He hoped to get the chance to prove to Charlie that he was the right man for her. He only had to convince her to Fall in Love With Him Again.. The love scenes between the couple were breathtaking- Oooh la la!! And as their relationship evolved throughout the pages the story made me laugh, and at it made me feel a little sad at other times. It's safe to say that with all the chemistry between Charlie and Nixon just being in the same room, the room sizzles with passion. I would venture so say they never fell out of love. It's always good to see Carter, and Viv, Roman, Simone, Eddie, and some of the previous characters. The story is a wonderfully written romance novel about falling in love again. You will love it.. I promise.. Bravo Mrs. Jones.

A great story from a great series!!!

By Jody

As I started reading this story. I was thinking there is no way this story can be better than the first two of this series. Of course, Christina proved me wrong. Charlie and Nixon are wonderful together. They went through it. I mean, REALLY went through it. After reading they're back story, my heart went out to them. I wouldn't wish that heartache on anyone. I thought Vivienne, from Didn't Mean to Love You, was my new crush but that damn Charlie is MY kind of woman. I absolutely loved her. She came off as a little stubborn and bitchy in the beginning, but once she let her wall down, WHEW!!! She knew how to love her man. No matter how she tried to fight it, she had always known that her heart belong to one man and one man only. Nixon was a cool as dude. Reminds me of myself and the things I say to my wife to make her blush. LOL. I like his style and the way he did any and everything to make the love of his life happy. I know it's hard for some to believe, but there are still a few of us out there that would walk the ends of the earth for our woman. This is one couple that you can't help but to like and hope for nothing but great things to come their way. I've read lots of books and some couples just really belong together. Gabi and Terrance from Strictly Business and Unfinished Business, Tracy and Brendan from Unsuitable Men and Maybe Never come to mind. For me, Charlie and Nixon belong on that list. They just belong together. I really enjoyed this series. The great thing about this series is, the characters were everyday people who actually worked for a living. They didn't sell drugs or robbed and killed people or drove a different car every time they went somewhere. They were everyday people who lived like me and did grown folks sh*t. I can relate to these couples and really liked all three couples. Thanks homie, for once again blessing us with a 5  book. Can't wait to see what you come up with next.

Another great installment!

By DeeDee

Okay, this Serendipitous Love series?? THE BOMB!!! (Sorry, I don't know any current phrases, LOL!). I need Mrs. Jones to tell me where this neighborhood is, so I can come and sit and observe these beautiful people.

I'm glad to say that the author doesn't miss a step in Book 3: excellent storylines, cute couple, and fresh, current dialogue. While, I loved Roman and Carter, I think Nix might be my favorite. I'll just say, that he is a little more...naughty, than the other two. Charlie I liked, but she annoyed me at times. She created so much drama for herself with her impulsiveness.

However, the Wonder Twins almost stole the show! As a woman of a certain age, I couldn't help but love Melissa and Morgan; they reminded me of a couple of my friends, who always make you wonder what's gonna come out of their mouths next, lol (so much fun!).

Can't wait to see what's in store for Eddie...and Astrid. And I'm thinking Grant is gonna need a book, too. And what's up with Leah? Was it just me, or did it seem like something was off with her? What's up, Mrs. Jones?

Looking forward to whatever is next! Keep up the great work!
